The Julien Project: Celebrating our Successes and Envisioning the Future

The Julien Project is a Community Outreach Horticulture Therapy Initiative serving local people with special needs.

The Julien Project is the proud recipient of the Recreating Eden/ Vision TV National Award which recognizes new and unique gardening initiatives that help build strong communities.

Come see what makes this program so special. Professional support providers share the positive outcomes patients have experienced as a result of their involvement with the project and invite you to learn how this resource can be of benefit to others. Sharon Stewart, project founder and director is on hand to give a general overview, share the project's vision of the future and answer any questions.
